A few years back, we were lucky enough to stumble on to some really good cafes in South Central Texas better known as the Hill Country. Little old out of the way places that had been in the same families for 30 or 40 years, the kind of places where people remember your name or your favorite kind of pie. Ma & Pa restaurants where you felt at home even if you didn't know anybody.

Anyhow, I can't remember now If we were at O.S.T. down in Bandera or over in Hunt at the Store, but after several Shiner Bocks, a few of us decided to open our own place. We figured if we ended up not getting rich out of the deal, we could at least have a good time and eat real well.

So, welcome. Pull up a chair and order up. The food's good, the beer's cold, just kick back and let the good times roll!
